

Ace Hardware Restricted Item Policy

Ace Hardware Corporation (“Ace”) strives to maintain an online ecommerce platform that customers can trust. There are certain products and categories that will not be accepted for listing on www.acehardware.com. All products listed for sale on www.acehardware.com as part of the Ace Product Sync program must comply with any applicable local, state, federal laws and regulations, and must comply with Ace Hardware policies (for example, firearms or items with offensive/objectionable content).

Please review the restricted item list below before proceeding with signing up. If you have questions, please reach out to productsync@acehardware.com and provide as much detail about the product you are looking to onboard.

While Ace Hardware strives to keep this policy current and as complete as practicable, not all prohibited products may be listed below. In addition, some products may be allowed online in the future. Ace Hardware reserves the right to remove any product listing it determines violates its online policies. Types of restricted products include (but are not limited to):
