

Dear Supplier and Manufacturers,

We are excited to announce that Health-e Pro is now partnered with 1WorldSync to implement and leverage the Global Data Synchronization Network (GDSN) for the exchange of product information. Through this new partnership, we will be able to expand access to more comprehensive and accurate data across the Health-e Pro platform. This will allow for expanded visibility of your products to the consumer: your items are discoverable and available for use where your customers plan their menus.

Health-e Pro is the premier menu planning and nutrient analysis software for organizations working within USDA food programs. Almost a billion meals will be planned in the software over the course of the next year. Cloud-based and easy to use, Health-e Pro gives food service directors the tools they need to efficiently and profitably run their programs.

Benefits to Working with Health-e Pro:

- Better visibility of your products to the consumer: your items are discoverable and available for use where your customers plan their menus.
- Ease of getting product information to your customer. USDA food program operators are required to obtain product information, such as Child Nutrition labels, Product Formulation Statements, nutrition labels, etc. Our menu planning software makes all this documentation easily accessible.
