Dear Valued Supplier,

Many of your healthcare customers develop menus, recipes, and purchase their food through MealSuite's custom procurement engine. However, today we do not currently have all the required data needed to accurately represent your products in our system.

MealSuite works with numerous vendors, including US Foods, Performance Food Group, Sysco USA, and others, to supply your products to the market. Your distributor partners have already provided some of your key product content to us, including UPCs, GTINs, and basic supply chain attributes; however, our mutual healthcare customers are now requiring current nutrient and allergen data to support their purchasing decisions. To best showcase your products, we are reaching out to request that data be directly published to MealSuite to ensure timely and accurate updates.

By providing us access to your product data, including images, nutrients, allergens, and stocking information, your products will stand out to our healthcare customers as they choose and purchase their preferred products for their recipes and menus.
